HOT CONTEST FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The high school trustees election which will be held March 28th this year promises to be one of the most hotly contested that has even been held here. The terms of Mr. D. E. O'Keefe and Mr. Thos. O. Heydenfeldt will expire.

Mr. O'Keefe, who now holds a federal position will not be a candidate for re-election Mr. Heydenfeldt will seek a return to the position.

Others who have signified their intention of seeking the position are Donald W. Williams of this city; Henry Marcus, also of Redwood City, and George Walsh of Menlo Park. It is also rumored that Asa E. Hull of San Carlos will run. This rumor, however, has not been confirmed.

Mr. Williams is well and favorably known in the district. He is a retired business man and was for a number of years cashier of the Redwood City Commercial Bank which later became the Bank of Italy. Mr. Williams is at present chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter and during the war was National Food Administrator for San Mateo County and a member of the State Council of Defense.

Mr. Henry Marcus is a well-known business man of Redwood City and is proprietor and manager of the Marcus Arcade, a local dry goods establishment. He has resided in Redwood City for a number of years and this is his first entry into the political field.

George Walsh resides in Menlo Park. He is the eldest son of the late Martin Walsh, and is the local agent for a life insurance company. He was born and raised in Menlo Park and has many friends in that community.

Mr. Thomas O. Heydenfeldt has resided here for a number of years. He was formerly secretary of a mining company, but retired from that position three years ago He has been a trustee of the High School District for twelve years.

Mr. Asa Hull has resided in San Carlos all his life and was for many years proprietor of the San Caros Dairy. He is president of the Hull Bros. Hardware Company and is known to be one of the foremost men of this section.

FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The term of Mr. Henry Steinberger as trustee of the Redwood City School District will expire this year It is more than probable that Mr. Steinberger's friends will prevail upon him to continue in the place for another term.

Mr. Steinberger has held the office for many years and through his careful management of school affairs has kept the district in a very splendid condition. He had not expected to remain a trustee but the urging of everyone who is in anyway conected with the school department will probably cause him to remain in the place.

Whether large or small, the living room is the keynote of a home and should set the tone for the more intimate rooms beyond.

Too often people make the mistake of thinking beauty—appropriateness—atmosphere can be obtained only through large expenditure of money.

The correct electric fixture for your living room is not a matter of expense. Rather is it the result of intelligent study of the resources at your command and a carefully thought out plan of the desired effect.

For the austere formality of high ceilings and dignified proportions—for the piquant charm of the unpretentious—for the successful blending of dignity with hospitality, our fixtures provide you with the essentials of variety and adaptability.

We would appreciate the pleasure of calling at your home to furnish you any information you should desire regarding the illumination of your home.

Redwood Man Burlingame Mgr

James R. Murphy, city clerk of Burlingame, has been appointed city manager of that growing municipality and will take over the direction of all of the departments except the police system this week.

The new position will bring added duties as well as increased emoluments to the incumbent. It is known however that he is equal to the job and will conduct his civic affairs in the same capable manner that he has handled his other business interests.

Mr. Murphy is well known in Redwood City, he having been born and raised in this city. After graduating from the local schools, he was for a number of years employed by the Southern Pacific Company. He then became postmaster at Burlingame and also Wells Fargo agent. He left these positions to take over the city work several years ago. He is a frequent visitor in his old home town and all of his Redwood City friends wish him great success as manager of one of the finest communities in the United States.

CONVICTED CARPENTER FAILS TO LIVE UP TO PROBATION

William W. Richardson, formerly of this city, released on probation following conviction in the Superior Court here last August of a statutory offense against a minor daughter, has neglected to comply with the terms of his probationary sentence, according to an affidavit filed this week in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth Kneese of Redwood City by Probation Officer Francis T. Rapp of San Mateo.

Richardson was sentenced to five years in prison, being given probation with the stipulation that at least one-half of his monthly earnings as a carpenter would be devoted to the support of his children, according to court records. The man is now in Oakland and has not remitted any funds whatever for the support of his family, according to Probation Officer Rapp.

WINS JUDGMENT FOR $494 AND INTEREST BY DEFAULT

Judgment for $494 with interest of $31.75 was won by default in the Superior Court of this city this week by A. Hess & Co. of Redwood City in a suit against E. S. and Francis Williams. The complaint alleges the amount to be due for sand, gravel and building material delivered to the defendants for the building of a house in Redwood City last month.

Because of the increase in the cost of fuel oil, the State Railroad Commission has given the Pacific Gas & Electric Company the right to increase its charges for gas service 8 to 12 cents a thousand cubic feet. This will make quite an increase in the charge made to consumers who will pay $1.00 per thousand cubic feet after March 5th.

ED DEARBORN IS COUNTY CANDIDATE

Ed Dearborn of this city has announced his candidacy for the position of Supervisor from the Third township to succeed Supervisor MacBain, the incumbant, who will also run for another term. Dearborn is thoroughly acquainted with the possibilities and requirements of this township, having been born and raised here. He also has many friends who are working hard to see that he gets a vote that will put him in office. For many years Dearborn was superintendent of streets and water superintendent of Redwood City, but since his resignation about a year ago he has been engaged in the contracting business.

The incumbant, John MacBain has served several terms as supervisor from this district and is again seeking re-election. He also has long been a resident in this county, having come from his home in Nova Scotia over thirty years ago. MacBain is also engaged in the contracting business.

Announcement has been made that Harry Walsh, son of the late Constable Walsh of Menlo Park, was also a candidate for the position, but according to word received from his brother yesterday, he will not aspire for the office. The candidacy of Walsh, it was said was only a joke to scare MacBain, who opposed the Menlo Park incorporation, which was strongly fostered by Walsh.

Benjamin Barham Weds Siskiyou Girl

A wedding was solemnized last Tuesday evening in the Congregational church here between Benjamin Barham, local painter and Miss Edyth E. Whipple of Siskiyou county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry Owen of the local Methodist church. The bride is a cousin of Mrs. Earl Eickerinkotter. At present the young couple are making their home with the Eikerinkotters, but will move into one of the houses being built by C. G. Uhlenberg on Heller street, as soon as the house is completed.

MAN ROBBED WHEN OFFERING ASSISTANCE

J. W. Magarrell, San Francico motorist, was slugged and robbed of $30 on the Middlefield road between this city and Palo Alto Thursday night while playing the chivalrous knight to a pretty woman in distress.

Magarrell stopped his automobile when he got several flashlight signals from a big machine parked at the side of the road. He got out and found the pretty woman alone, and she explained that she was having trouble with her car.

"Suppose you look under the hood. I'm sure a good mechanic like you can fix it up all right," the woman said. Margarrell did so. He was struck from behind. When he awoke the woman and her automobile and $30 that had been in his pocketbook were gone. Margarrell drove back to Redwood City, reported to the police and then went to the City hospital He described the woman as being young, wearing a white-rimmed hat and a fur coat.

MOTORCYCLIST SUES LOCAL LUMBERMAN

George DeFolo, who was injured on October 26 when a motorcyle which he was riding was struck from the rear by a car driven by W. J. Clarkson, local manager of the Sudden Lumber Company, has filed suit against Clarkson in the Superior Court here. DeFolo demands damages to the amount of 10,190 in his complaint which was filed by Attorney John Francis Neylan.

According to DeFolo's complaint, he sustained injuries that cost him $190, he asks the $10,000 as exemplary damages. De Folo claims that he was driving on the right hand side of the highway, near Belmont, when overtaken by Clarkson, who with two other local men was returning from a joy ride. The automobile after striking DeFolo, turned over. None of the occupants of the car were seriously injured.

REDWOOD WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Hazel Toudhope Moore of this city, passed away at her home at 415 Arch street yesterday morning, following a long illness. Mrs. Moore was the wife of Frederick Moore and leaves a young daughter, Lesley Moore. Two sisters, Mrs. E. M. Newland and Mrs. A. C. Dinwoody and a brother, Dr. W. C. Allen, also survive her. The deceased was a native of Tennessee and 28 years of age.

NEW SCHOOL AUDITORIUM NEARING COMPLETION

The auditorium, the only building of the new high school group which is not at present completed, is receiving the last touches on the outside and is rapidly taking on the appearance of a beautiful piece of architectural construction. The outside of the building has received the final "dash" this week, giving it the finished appearance and the same warm cheerful color as the other buildings. The scafolds which have surrounded the building until now, are removed, and the new building stands out to view in its full beauty.

Internally the new building has much to be done yet, but when competed will be one of the finest auditoriums in use in any school of the state. A stage with dressing rooms and all the refinements of modern lighting will be provided, and the interior of the building will be elegantly finihed. The seating capacity will be 1,200.

FIND MURDERED MAN AT SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

The body of the victim of a brutal murder in which police see the hand of the Sicillian blackhand was found Thursday at the foot of the Point Sierra precipice near a Southern Pacific tunnel at the water's edge.

Death is believed to have been caused by strangulation. A looped rope was found nearby. The police believe the rope was placed about the man's neck, that he was thrown over the cliff and held until dead, and then allowed to drop. Police gained this theory from an examination of the body.

A letter with the name, Angelo Domenichini was found nearby. The dead man was about 58 years old, weighed 200 pounds and wore a brown suit and a hat to match. His hands indicated that he had led a life of ease.

The body was found by C. H. Williams and J. E. Lambkin, both of South San Francisco. It was taken to the S. Nieri undertaking parlor, where an inquest will be held Saturday.

SPEEDY GAME PLAYED

The unlimited team of South San Francisco High which has never been defeated, journied to the local gym, Thursday night and played with the 125-pound team of Sequoia which has never been defeated by a team of its own weight. The South City girls were too fast for the locals however, and took home the victory with a score of 30-20. At every stage of the fray the Redwood girls were in the scrimmage and made the lassies from the north end of the county earn their victory.

The Sequoia squad which is coached by Miss Irene Bradley is made up of the following players:

Those who went were, Miss Boyle, Miss Bresse, the Misess Bernice Martin, Margaret Kalenborn, Irma Follett, Helen French, Aurelia Brown, Georgina Hoonck and Messrs. Dana Smith, Noble Cloud, John Weeden, George Andreini, Rolland Hedge, Thomas Barnaby.

MASONS HOLD AN OLD CLOTHES PARTY

One of the most enjoyable parties held for some time was enjoyed by the members of the local Masonic Lodge and their friends last Saturday night. The party was an old clothes dance, and from the specimens seen on the floor of the Masonic Temple it is doubtful if clothes are ever destroyed in Redwood City. The styles varied from some that might have been in style when Virginia Dare first discovered Jamestown to the uniform that is said to have identified Coxie's army.

Dancing and refreshments were as much a part of the program as the costumes and some found the refreshments ever more fascinating than the dancing. Prizes were awarded for several events and for the best costumes. Miss Lulu Beeger was awarded a prize as haying the best woman's costume, and Mrs. C. I. Langford for being the best old-fashioned lady. A. H. Audifred of Woodside received the prize for the best costume for men. Axil Larson and Mrs. Clarence Choat were each awarded a prize as being the most comically dressed. Mrs. F. Stritzki won a prize in a game of musical chairs and also in a new kind of elimination waltz; her partner in the latter was Henry Reghetti. After all the prizes had been awarded, Charles Merrill, who was making the awards presented Mrs. Dave Moore, who wore the dress in which her grandmother had been married, with the buttenire which he was wearing.

Popular Couple Married Saturday

Miss Martha McKay and Allen Winter, both popular in the younger circles of Redwood City, were quietly married in San Jose last Saturday. The marriage came as a distinct surprise to their many friends here, who knew that they were engaged, but did not know that the wedding was to be so soon. The wedding took place in the Episcopal church of San Jose with only the groom's mother, Mrs. Emma Winter. and the bride's brother, Allen MacKay, present. After the ceremony the young couple left for a honeymoon to be spent around Monterey.

The bride is the second daughter of the late Peter MacKay and has for many years been employed by the local office of the P. G. & E. She is well known and popular in both church and fraternal circles. Mr. Winter is aso employed by the local branch of the electric company and has many friends in Redwood City who wish him happiness.

JUSTICE RAY GRIFFIN FINDS BUSINESS GOOD

Now-a-days when he is asked if there is anything new, Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin just grabs the card index and starting at a "A" runs through the alphabet, alternating the names with such phrases as $25, $50 ten day, thirty days, etc. The cases heard before the busy justice for two days this week were as follows:

J. Vitali of Cupertino, accused of having undersize abalones out of season, plead guilty and paid a fine of $50.

D. Canova and D. Malone, both of San Jose were found guilty of having under size abalones and having them out of season and each paid a fine of $50.

Warrants were issed for the arrest of Joe Ponelo of Santa Clara and A. W. Robirio, a deputy constable of Santa Clara, wanted on a charge of having undersize abalones out of season, and having over the limit. These are two of a party of five, the other three, W. C. Robiria, Fred Cardoza and Joe Louis appeared in the local court last week and paid a fine of $25 in each of the three counts.

A warrant was also issued for the arrest of B. Strigel of San Jose, who was to have appeared on a charge of fishing without a license, but who failed to make an appearance.

Ed McManus of San Francisco, was fined $25 for having abalones out of season.

Three men, D. Rinardo, J. Costello and Joe Palmer, all of San Jose were charged with having abalones over the limit, undersized and out of season, also with having over the limit of salt water eel which were also undersize, some of them being not more than two inches long. Rinardo and Costello were also charged with carrying concealed fire arms. The case was called for last Thursday afternoon but was continued to March 4.

Will Instruct In Summer School

Mr. John F. Mason of this city, supervisor of oral expression in the rural schools of San Mateo County, has been requested to act as an instructor in the summer session of the State Teachers' College at San Francisco this year. Mr. Mason's work in securing correct enunciation and in corrective speech work has attracted considerable attention and he will now have an opportunity of teaching his methods to a large number of public school teachers.

Mr. Mason has been very successful in teaching stuttering children to overcome the impediment in their speach, and he will demonstrate his methods while giving his other classes. He is also an elocutionist of more than ordinary ability and has entertained a number of local audiences this year.

PEOPLE TO MEET ON WATER QUESTION

A mass meeting of the people of Redwood City will be held at the fire house next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of having a public hearing on the water question. At this time a representative of the Spring Valley Water Company will be present and explain to the public the terms which his company could make for supplying Redwood City with water.

The Redwood City Progress Club, an organization of the property owners and business men of Redwood City, has for some time been agitating the question of a better and more adequate supply of water for Redwood City, and has recently taken an unofficial vote of all the water users in the city to determine what the general feeling was in regard to the water situation. The results of this vote showed very strongly that public opinion in Redwood City defands better water than is now being furnished by the town. The meeting next Thursday is an outgrowth of the agitation started by the club, and it is expected at that time that the will of the people will be made known.

It is hoped that all who can be present at this meeting will attend, and it is expected that some definite action will be taken.

INTERESTING MEETING AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The services at the Congregational Church tomorrow will be of more than special interest. At the morning service which begins at 11 o'clock, School Superintendent A. E. Monteith will address the congregation. He will take as his topic, "George Washington, a Man and a Christian." Mr. Monteith is an entertaining talker and his address will be worth the attention of everyone who wishes to hear something about the "Father of His Country."

At the evening service beginning at 7:30 there will be special music directed by Mr. Otis M. Carrington. As a special number, Mr. John F. Mason will give, "The Toilings of Felix;" by Henry Van Dyke. This is a beautiful selection and Mr. Mason's ability as an interpretive reader should make the evening one of the most pleasant ever held in the church.

The public is cordially invited to both services.

DONALD W. WILLIAMS

Our friend and neighbor, Donald W. Williams, has decided to become a candidate for the position of trustee on the Sequoia Union High School board.

We are glad to have Mr. Williams as a candidate. There are other good men in the field and two are to be elected. We are of the opinion that Mr. Williams will be elected by an almost unanimous vote. He has all the qualifications necessary for the position. He is a man of large affairs who has been extremely successful in handling his own business, so he may well be trusted by others. He was trained as a banker and worked at that profession for a number of years. He has been active in all civic affairs and has never shirked his duty when any call has been made upon him. He also has been active in the religious life of the community and has responded to the appeal of every denomination and charitable enterprise whenever a call has been made.

Mr. Williams is a college man and so his education as well as his training fit him for the position of school trustee. We are glad that such a man as he is willing to give his time and energy to this position, and we trust that his fellow townsmen will give him a rousing vote.

A MAKER OF HISTORY

Yesterday was a holiday. It was observed as such that the memory of one of the greatest men of history might be perpetuated. It is well that people should have the opportunity of laying aside the thoughts of the regular routine in order that they might think of this great man who lived and labored and died as "The Father of Our Country."

George Washington was the one outstanding figure of our early national life. He would have been an outstanding figure in any period of time in which he might have been placed upon this earth. He was a born leader. He had the bearing and appearance of a commander. He was a big man. Yet withal he was a simple home loving man. He was willing to give his service to his country yet he would have preferred to have stayed at home. But he never faltered in the performance of his duty.

George Washington was a rich man but he was so democratic that he was loved by every one. He could have become a king had he desired, but he did not so desire. He was an honest, truthful man who believed in doing everything he had to do, well. He was the kind of an example that a father should be.

POOR OLD TUT

They are having an awful time over in Egypt over the remains of poor old King Tut. Howard Carter, excavator in chief, wants the Egyptian government to apologize for interference, and the government won't apologize, so there, and the work of unsealing the last of the mummy cases has stopped and for a few days at least Tutankhamon, the young Pharoh may sleep the sleep of the just in his rock-hewn sarcophagus.

So far as that is concerned, however, he might just as well turn over for another wink or two as the excavators and the government have stripped all the gold and jewelry and vases and ornaments from their age-long hiding place and it isn't likely that the poor old mummified body will have much value about it, so, so far as we are concerned the work might just as well stop now as any time A mummy more or less doesn't matter much anyway.

We feel though that there is quite a lesson to be learned from the affair. Tutt laid up for himself an immense fortune. Then death overtook him. He couldn't carry his riches in his hands but his friends and neighbors piled as much of it as possible about his body in the hope that it would be of use to him in his after life. But all it did for him was to cause archaeologists to search for and disturb his rest.

We know of another character of history who was so poor that he had no place to lay his head, except when friends invited him to their homes. He took no riches with Him. Yet his name is now known above every other name. And the knees of the rich and poor bow in respect to His memory.

We have known men right here in our own community, Redwood City, who have gone on the long journey. They are remembered for what they did, not for what they had. We like to see forehanded people who have saved so that their declining years will be free from worry; but the man who saves just for the sake of saving is a fool. He cannot take his riches with him and like old King Tut's, they may cause him an unpleasant rest just when the resting should be best.

THE NEW PREVENTORIUM

San Francisco will build its new Preventorium four miles west of Redwood City. A tract of land of 301 acres has been secured which will be made into a garden spot, after which a half million dollars will be used in the erection of one of the finest hospitals in the country.

Redwood City was selected for the location of this institution because of the ideal climatic conditions which are to be found here. The cool invigorating breezes of summer and the delightful warm weather of winter combine to make this section the spot which San Francisco has long sought for its hospital for boys and girls who are in the first stages of the great white plague.

While the selection of Redwood City is a decided compliment, the institution itself will be an asset to this locality. It will of necessity bring business here and the work to be done on the grounds and in the construction of roads leading to the place will be of great value to our county.

Dr. Hassler, the San Francisco physician, who appeared before the Board of Supervisors and requested permission to build the Preventorium here, promised that no advanced cases would be admitted to the institution, but that it would be a place where children could be nursed back to health and strength before the insidious disease had fastened its awful tenacles upon them.

The site is over a mile from the nearest home so no one could in anyway object to its erection.

We are glad to welcome San Francisco to our midst. Anyone who comes to us with $500,000 to spend is a welcome guest and besides we are rather puffed up at the recognition of our wonderful climate.

TIME EXTENDED ON BRIDGE PERMIT

Permit Granted for San Francisco Tubercular Hospital

WILL LICENSE DANCE HALLS

Licensing of Pedlers, Etc., Also Proposed in the New Ordinance

The literal realization of the ancient prophecy, "The lion and the lafb shall lie down together," would cause no more astonishment than was occasioned by the appearance of Frank Elbridge Webb, of "proposed bridge" fame, and his two former supporters, John McCurdy and John McGrath of San Mateo, who appeared together before the meeting of the county board of supervisors last Monday. The surprise resulted from the fact that for many months Webb and his erstwhile confederates had been on the proverbial swords points, as far as their relations with one another were concerned; the mutual coolness resulting from a demand made by Webb for $1,000,000 or his rights under a franchise granted him by the supervisors to build a bridge from San Mateo to Haywards.

Rumor had it that McGrath was going to ask for a cancellation of the franchise and then apply for another franchise when some one, known only to the public as "the Chicago interests," would put up the $10,000,000 necessary for building the bridge. It was therefore expected that the meeting would be rather more than ordinarily well supplied with "fireworks."

But the excitement hunters received a disappointment when McCurdy addressed the board and asked for an extension of time for the Webb franchise, which would expire on the fifth of next month. McCurdy, although his "Mr. Webb and myself" was strongly reminiscent of the days of last year when the application for a permit was so strongly in the public eye, disclaimed any responsibility for the course matters had taken since these meetings when the hall was packed with citizens of the "Three Cities" who cheered so vehemently every time Webb uttered a word.

"Project after project had fallen down for financing the bridge," said McCurdy in asking for an extension. He then intimated that a satisfactory settlement had been effected with Webb.

A motion was made by Supervisor Brown that the time allowed for starting work be extended to September 5, 1924, at which time the federal permit from the War department will expire. The motion was seconded by Supervisor MacBain, which caused some surprise as it served to illustrate the fallibility of Dame Rumor. On a roll call the motion to grant an extension of time to Webb carried by 4 to 1, Supervisor Hickey of the First township, opposing it.

Before the motion was voted upon Hall Ross, representing the Morgan Oyster Company, which holds a large tract of tide land through which the bridge would go if it were ever possible to build it, called attention to the fact that he had previously filed a protest to granting a permit to Webb, and said that his protest was still in force. While the action of Attorney Ross was only a formal one, it indicated to the board that the building of a bridge at San Mateo will meet with opposition, just how much opposition will be encountered, of course, cannot at this time be determined.

A letter introdured by the Webb interests and read to the board was addressed to Col. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, and was in the nature of an inquiry to him as to whether he had anything to do with building the proposed bridge. The letter was introduced only for effect and had no bearing on the matter. Being to Col. Goethals and not from him it was not considered of any importance by the board.

The next matter to occuppy the attention of the board was the granting to the City and County of San Francisco a permit to erect a tubercular pavilion on a trart of land in the hills near here which they purchased for the purpose. Dr. Hassler of San Francisio was present and explained to the board the proposed location of the building, which will be near the sanitarium at present conducted by Dr. Shyre. Dr. Hassler said that the city had purchased practically all the land on the north side of the West Union Road from a point not far west of the Finger Creek bridge to the holdings of the Spring Valley Water Company near the summit of the first ridge. When asked by District Attorney Swart what disposal would be made of sewage, Dr. Hassler replied that the institution would support and abide by the laws, rules and regulations of the county and the state.

H. C. Finkler, a resident of the country near to the proposed site of the sanitorium, addressed the board in regard to the matter, and drew the attention of the supervisors to the fact that nothing would force the world in general more to realize that the climate of Redwood City is the best in the world. The fact that Redwood City has an average temperature, just warm enough to prevent the chills said to be felt in the celestial regions, and yet much cooler and more pleasant than that enjoyed by the select few in the lower kingdom, has long been a known fact, according to Finkler, the world would become more conversant with the ideality of Redwood climate if the San Francisco hospital were located here.

Miss Edna Holroyd addressed the board in regard to a branch of the county library at Lomita Park. A room of the school could be used she said, but shelving was necessary and peddle hot dog, peanuts, flowers, etc., along the highways. The proposed ordinance is aimed at the supposed hot dog and soft drink places which are in reality bootleg shops, and also at such roadside selling as blocks traffic and endangers the lives of those who practice it. The first part of the ordinence would improve conditions in some of the county's dead-fall which drew forth severe criticism from the grand jury last week.

would cost $213. That amount was granted upon a motion by Supervisor Brown.

District Atorney Swart was present and announced to the board that he was drawing up an ordinance along the lines suggested in the report of the grand jury, but even more broad in its application. The ordinance proposed would regulate all public dances outside of the incorporated towns, all traveling circuses, fortune tellers and clarevoyants operating in the county. It would also require all soft drink places and cigar vendors to secure a county license as well as those who

Cleaning Without Odor by the
F. Thomas Process
Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.
With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.
Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes

DR. ROY WOODHAMS TELLS OF MARVELOUS AFRICAN ADVENTURES

Mistaken for the Devil; Bashfulness an African Characteristic; Another Theory Disproved; the Congo

In order to protect our cattle from the prowling lions which were reported near, we built perches about 10 feet high at each corner of the coral. A lion will never climb, he is not like a leopard. The perches were made of crooked poles and were very uncomfortable. We spent several nights upon these seats and managed to sleep some, for whenever a lion came near, the cows smelled it first and set up such a row that it would wake us up. None of the intruders came within range, however, and they finally left the country.

I had a rather unusual experience one night while walking along one of the native paths, an experience I am sure could not be duplicated in America. It was this: I was accused of being Satan. Now over here a person might be called names which mean as much, but to be actually accused of being that person himself, and having his accusers themselves believe it a fact, I think is only possible in "Africa's Sunny Land."

We were wending our way through the tall grass, following the path along a little ridge. A mile or so over to our right came the sounds of natives shouting and having a hilarious time. The voices came over the night air as clear as could be. I could not make out what it was about, for the native when he sings accents his sentences much differently than when talking. I asked my black friend in the rear, who was following my lantern and foot prints, what it was all about, and whether it were a native dance in progress. He stopped and listened and said, "No, it was a sacrifice to 'Jok'" and that a sheep was being sacrificed.

This a popular ceremony among the natives, as the sheep after being sacrificed to "Jok" is eaten by the natives. "Jok" is the god they worship, and from Romans, chapter 1 and 2, as well as many other places and from the character they ascribe to this god of theirs we know him to be Satan. We teach the natives this and that the Son of God has completely overcome this one and robbed him of his chief weapon—death. I am off my subject.

We came out into an open space where the grass was not so high and these natives could see our light bobbing along the path. At once the shouting changed. We now heard shouts of "There goes Jok and his people." This was put in several different ways, and then the shouting ceased for they saw that Jok was not going to visit their village that night. We heard no more, for evidently they were stowing away the sheep. I told my black partner that if we were known as "Jok" then the sheep was killed for us, and we should have sime of it. We didn't.

One thing may interest you as it shows the native as he is and may help to illustrate the kind of people among whom we were working. One of our boys, a lad of abdout 12 years, had worked for us for about three months, but who had been home "resting" as they say for about a month. I had seen him several times in his village, which was only an hour from us. I had always stopped and talked to him, and he was always happy and came down the path to meet me. I had spoken about coming back to us, and he had always said, "After a while."

Then one day he came to the native Sunday school and then one day he came to our house. I had a hunch that he had come back to stay from the way he acted, although he had been back lots of times since he had returned to his village. I said nothing about coming back, I felt he wanted me to, but I wanted to see what he would do.

First some other of the boys said that they had brought Bangaca back to us. I remained ignorant. Then in a little while our boy said, "Bangaca has come back to his garden," (they all have a little piece of ground for a garden as they like to have something of their own, and I give a prize to the one who has the best.) Still I said nothing. Soon the boy herding the cows a quarter of a mile off called over and asked, "Did you come back?" and Bangaca answered, "Yes." I was talking with someone else and pretended not to hear. Soon he brought me some small change and wanted me to change it to francs, which I did and then went into the house and sat down. He put the francs into his native cow hide purse and stood playing with it and looking queer and out of place. Finally he got up courage, turned to me, and tossing me the purse said, "com mae," or keep this for me. That was all there was said but he started working and acting at home again like old times.

The boys are so bashful that they can't get the words out. The native expression translated literally is, "bhyness kills me." We were glad to have Bangaca back for he had shown real evidence of conversion. He was a slave boy, bought from another tribe when very young. The man for whom he worked (a brother of his owner) lived on the station and worked for me. He was very brutal to the boy, so I took him away and later the man died. With us the little fellow was real happy for he felt that he had a real home.

I broke another native theory one day. The natives say a drum must have a small stone in it or it won't "cry." Also when they put a new head on a drum they must go far from the village to do it or it won't "cry." I found this out, and one of our drums wore out, I was going to have a new head put on. I made them leave the stone out and do the job right next to the house. The drum when repaired sounded as well as ever, but the boys would not say anything about it.

Travel in Africa is not attended with all the luxury of the Pullman car, as will be shown by the following experience which happened after we had been on the station for some time. Word came that I was needed on the other side of the mountain, a distance of about 20 miles, but 20 miles are like 100 in that part of the world. I left home at about 6:30 in the evening, walking. Neither words nor francs could induce our chief to give me porters enough for the chairs on such short notice. "Where will I find any men now?" That is the native's way, always tomorrow, and they can never be enthused with the need of hurrying. So I used my two feet and with three men only to carry my blankets and medical box we started off with the first quarter of the moon still high in the sky.

The natives are harvesting grain now so their time for their evening meal is seven or eight o'clock. As a result as we went through the villages I was able to persuade several of the women to part with food they had ready to eat, and be satisfied with the equivalent of four American cents, while my porters ate the food. I asked one woman, who was rejoicing over the two makutas (4c) I had given her for food enough to fill up two people, if her husband wouldn't scold her when he found that she had sold the food she had ready for him. She said he wouldn't when she told him that she had got two makutas for it, and anyway she would go quickly and cook some more for the "owner of the house." As cooking a meal starts with grinding the grain between two stones, I thought for my part I would prefer the 20-mile walk to starting a meal at 8 p. m. However, buying cooked food for my men which is not the custom or expected, had the good effect of making them all happy. For good nature and a full stomach are as closely related in Africa as in America.

After we had been waking for several hours and were all getting rather tired and sleepy, we decided to sleep a few hours in a native village. We first called out the head man. I told him that I wanted a house, so he woke up a family and got them out and tried to straighten up the hut fit for a white man, an impossible job. Finally they decided that this house was too smokey for me, so they let my porters sleep in it and another happy family was disturbed in a slightly better house. Of course, these families were not badly disturbed for it didn't take them long to spread their mats on a neighbor's floor, where they were soon soundly sleeping again.

When I was finally located a franc given to the headman made everybody happy. I pulled off my shoes only, for all the house had been heated like a furnace with the doors closed and no windows I needed no blankets. I lay down on the floor with the four thicknesses of native mat under me a luxury arranged for my benefit, as the native only sleeps on one mat. Even so I seemed to be more conscious of the ground under me than of the mats.

Though there were not natives in the hut with me, don't think I was left alone. By the light of my lantern I counted sixteen goats and sheep and behind the native water pot were several chickens waiting to do their alarm duties at 4 a. m. The grown sheep and goats were tied but two half-grown ones were very curious to know what new thing was in their house and insisted upon investigating. A hen about three feet from my head couldn't seem to settle down after the disturbance, and at least one rat was on the job. In spite of all this I dosed off several times, but meanwhile got a little new light on Psalm 130 about waiting for the Lord "more than they who watch for the morning." I didn't wait for a second rooster to crow in the morning, but when the first one was up I got into my shoes again and we were well on our way by the time the sun was up and arrived at our destination in plenty of time for breakfast.

At one time during a rest on our way I overheard the natives discussing the value of the white man in their country. They finally decided that he was of no value, as before he came they never had to carry loads at night. The psychology of the native porter is peculiar, as illustrated by an experience we had when a missionery family who had been staying at our station, moved. They had written for porters but had not expected an answer for some time, as it is not the African custom to respond quickly. Consequently there was a scene of considerable confusion when one morning 140 porters appeared. Then everything had to be made ready in a rush, and packed into bundles of about fifty pounds.

These porters were from Aru, about three days north of Ter Akara, from tribes called Madi and Lukbara, the only two knoyn tribes of the continent who wear no goat skin. They go absolutely as they were born, not even a pleasant smile. I could not talk any of their language, but one of our boys could speak it a little, so I managed the talking through him. We had a great time with them as you may imagine.

Early the next morning they staraed singing and shouting down at the house they slept in, and soon started up to our house. I was dressing at a little before six, and I soon heard a buzzing like bees at the house where Truots, the family who were moving, stayed. I imagined what had happened and knew that Trout would be helpless, as he was not used to porters. I quit dressing and ran out, and the sight I saw would do for the movies.

All the boxes were piled under the eaves of the house. The porters were streaming through our yard and up to Trout's, fighting with each other trying to get a small box or a light one. You can immagine 140 black men falling over one another, climbing over loads or pulling at one box like chickens with worms. Occasionally one would get a light box and then would run down the path with it to a safe place. Trout was trying to remonstrate with them, but they didn't notice that he was there, they were so intent upon finding a small box. He had just gone into the house and got his rifle, thinking that the sight of that might produce order.

I sailed into the bunch and slapped ears with the full force of my right arm, right and left; grabbed fellows and threw them off the pile of boxes; and when one fellow was making away with a bix, boxed first one ear and then the other as fast as possible, until he dropped it and ran. About ten minutes of this calmed things down a little. Then we went after those who had gone down the path with boxes, and made them all come back and put the boxes in a line, and got all the porters outside of the little fence. I then stationed a boy with a "kaboka" (a rhineosrous hide whip) to see that they didn't grab the boxes again.

More than one fellow got a welt on the back from the boy's whip, for he enjoyed the privilege of hitting the Madis, who have always been enemies of the Alure. Other boys took sticks to have a part in the fun. One fellow especially got it good. He was coming back into the yard after a small box. I got a good solid crack on one side of his face with my hand, while the kabaka and stick landed simultaneously on his back.

It was sure some confusion, and sounds like cruel treatment, but there is no other way to deal with these people, yet. Slapping doesn't hurt them like it would a white man. For instance I gave one fellow four or five cracks in succession on the side of his face that would have dazed a white man, for I hit with my full force. But he stubbornly hung onto the box. If they had gotten the best of us, it would have meant more trouble from them. They knew they had no right to go after the loads like that, and were simply seeing if they could get away with it. After they saw that they were licked it was much more simple. After the "insurrection" quited down, I gave out the loads in order, whether they were small or large and things went along alright.

This article concludes a series of articles by Dr. Woodham giving an intimate touch of African life.

Time loiters not. The river ever flows,
Its brink or white with blossoms or with snows;
Its tide or warm with spring or winter cold;
Just as of old.

Lo where is the beginning, where the end
Of living, loving, longing Listen, friend!
God answers with a silence of pure gold—
Just as of old.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The Agnetian Club of San Francisco will give an entertainment in the Hall of the Nativity on Saturday evening, March first. A social dance will follow the performance. Father Stephen Barron, a former pupil of St. Patrick's Seminary, will bring the club here. The fact that he is connected with the organization is sufficient guarantee that the entertainment will be a rare treat for the people of Menlo Park. A splendid program is to be rendered that is sure to please all. The admission will be fifty cents. Make no other date for that evening. Be sure and come early and secure a good seat for they will be at a premium.

The Companions of the Forest enjoyed a dinner at El Encanto restaurant Monday evening. About twenty-five members were present and enjoyed the tempting viands of the season. It was a get-together affair, where all met over the festive board to discuss the business of the society and to advance its welfare.

The local grammar school is growing so rapidly owing to the many new families coming to town that a new teacher has to be added to the faculty. Miss Bertha Kuck, who was granted a year's leave of absence from the school some months ago, will take up the duties of the new teacher next Monday, although her leave of absence has sot yet expired. The school is very fortunate in having her return for she is an experienced and able educator.

The Morgan Oyster Company, when it abandoned its oyster beds on the bay a short distance from Ravenswood landing a few years ago, neglected to cap the artesian wells on the property. The salt water has gotten into the wells and has been transmitted to the strata below the bay which has caused the water in nearly all the wells in that lacality to have a brakish taste. These wells ought to be capped at once.

Mr. Hagedorn, for a number of years a resident of Menlo Oaks, was here yesterday. He is preparing plans for a new home on his property on Santa Cruz avenue. The people are pleased to have Mr. Hagedorn and his charming wife residents of Menlo Park again.

An old-fashioned dance will be given in Duff & Doyle hall by the Alumni of St. Joseph's School on Tuesday evening, February 26, for the benefit of St. Joseph's School. This will be a rare opportunity for old and young to enjoy the lancers, quadrilles, polkas, waltz, Spanish dance and the other old-fashioned dances that were enjoyed a quarter of a century ago. Let the old come and be young again and the young come and trip the light fantastic like their fathers used to do in days of old.

Mrs. Victor Rakowsky is removing to Laurel Court, Menlo Park, from the Palm Court Apartments, Palo Alto.

The business men and people generally of Palo Alto are to be highly commended for their stand in refusing to aid the Ku Klux Klan in establishing a unit there. The promoters could not secure a hall to hold a meeting. The local newspaper would not print their advertisement their hand bills announcing a meeting for last Saturday would not be permitted to be placed in any business house. The promoters were given the cold shoulder everywhere. Dr. James R. Bronson, official lecturer for the klan, addressed a small crowd under an oak tree on Ramona street, off University avenue, in the afternoon. The people of Palo Alto do not want that objectionable society in their midst. It would do the town an injury. No self-respecting and patriotic citizen would care to live in a city where such an organization would be permitted to exist.

An unknown man was killed on the railroad track between Palo Alto and Menlo Park by a south bound train late Wednesday evening. He was walking along the track and apparently did not notice the approach of the train The body was removed to Redwood City.

On Thursday last a boy was born to Dr. and Mrs. Guy Manson at Fresno Grandma Bruce was present when the boy arrived. Mrs. Manson was formerly the charming Miss Gene Bruce of Menlo Park. The Manson family comprises of two sons.

John Lyle Harrington, the engineer and promoter of the Dumbarton bridge, was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John MacBain last Sunday. Mr Frank Towne of Redwood City was also a guest. Mr. Harrington was here to make all preliminary preparations for the construction of the brige work on which is to commence shortly Mr. Harrington spoke much encouragement as to the early completion of the structure. The money will soon be in the hands of the engineer for the building of the bridge.

Word comes from Berkeley to the effect that James R. Doyle, a former resident of Menlo Park, is very low and may pass away. The death of his son, W. A., Doyle, a few weeks ago was a severe blow to him. Mr Doyle is in his eighty-ninth year and is quite feeble.

Following an illness of five weeks Mrs. Mary O'Dea Cherriccini, a resident of Meno Park for the past twenty-five years, passed to the Great Beyond early Wednesday morning surrounded by her family Death was not wholly unexpected, as it was known by her family for some days that she could not recover. Mrs. Cherriccini came to Mountain View from her home in Ireland more than a quarter of a century ago, coming to Menlo Park shortly after.

The tragic death of her son, John O'Dea, three years ago preyed upon her mind so that she never fully recovered from the shock and it eventuated in her death. Young O'Dea was an over-seas man, having seen service in France. He was killed in an automobile accident at Coon's bridge here. He was an only son who was idolized by his devoted mother. Mrs. Cherriccini was beloved by her neighbors and a wide circle of friends who knew her many good traits of character The funeral of the deceased took place yesterday morning from the Church of the Nativity where a requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery. Mrs. Cherriccini is survived by her husband, Peter Cherriccini and three daughters, Mrs. Ann Swain, Miss Mary O'Dea and Miss Catherine O'Dea and a sister, Mrs. Henry Heightman, Oakland.

Father Donald McDonald, the popular assistant pastor of the Church of the Nativity, has been appointed the assistant at St. Leo Church at Piedmont, Oakland and will leave for his new charge on Febrcary 29. During his short stay in Menlo Park Father McDonald has made many friends among all classes who regret to see him go. He is an eloquent preacher, a profound scholar and a devoted priest. Father Lennon of San Francisco will succeed Father McDonald.

Judge Charles A. Shurtleff, former associate justice of the state supreme court, on Monday night delivered a lecture to the students of the law class of Stanford University. The judge is well grounded in the law, thorough in jurisprudence and a master of the English language. The budding young lawyers closely followed the wonderful words of wisdom of the erudite jurist.

A birthday party was given for Miss Beatrice Ellis Saturday efening by her mother at her home on Oak Grove avenue, Menlo Park. Those present were: Rylma Canoles, Brendell Canoles, Harold Kurtz, Abert Kurtz, Ernest Chandler, Antoinette, Dompay, Helen Aabel, Thelma Clark, Robert Seale, Beatrice Ellis, Jean Galle and Robert Bristow.

Mrs. Duncan Reynard entertained her friends at her home on El Camino Real at a pink tea Thursday afternoon. Many of the guests came from Redwood City and Palo Alto. The greater portion of the afternoon was spent at Mah Jongg, many of the ladies bringing their sets.

In honor of Mrs. Atherton Macondray, whose marriage to Mr. William Otis Edmands will be an event of February 26, Mrs. Grant Selfridge entertained at a luncheon Tuesday afternoon. The affair was held at the home of the hostess in Green street and was enjoyed by levn gusts.

Thos present were Mrs. Macondray, Mrs. Selah Chamberlain, Mrs. James Flood, Mrs. Willis K. Polk, Mrs. William Bull Pringle, Mrs. Covington Pringle, Mrs. George Howard, Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, Mrs. Bishop of Manila, Miss sara Collier and Miss Dorothy Collier.

H. J. Douglass returned this week from Los Angeles where he went on business some time ago. Mr. Douglass says that hundreds of people arrive daily from the east. The streets of the city are so crowded that travel is greatly impeded. It was extremely warm. The beaches were crowded with bathers. This climate is in strinking contrast to the storms and blizzards of the east.

This year's first shipmen of peony bulbs to the east has just been sent to Oswego, N. Y. by Karl Rosenfield of the Menlo Park Peony Gardens, Santa Cruz avenue. The bulbs brought a fancy price.

On Saturday, February 23, at 7:30 p. m., representatives from chapters of the Young People's Fellowship of the Episcopal church of San Mateo, Burlingame, Redwood City, Menlo Park, Palo Alto, Los Altos and San Jose will meet at Trinity Parish House to complete the program of general activities for the coming year.

THREE MEN HELD TO ANSWER

Three men who appeared before the Justice Court here this week were held to answer to the Superior Court on their respective charges. Dennis Brusso, who gave his occupation as a sculptor, was charged with burglary and will be given a trial soon. James Burnes charged with a statutory offense against a ten-year-old Redwood City girl, was the second man held to answer to the Superior Court and the third was W. Smith charged with forgery.

BOY CYCLIST INJURED BY HITTING TRUCK

Robert West, young son of Archie West, local butcher, was badly hurt when riding his bicycle on Main street last Wednesday. The boy ran into a truck that was standing by the curb, and received some severe cuts and bruises. Dr. J. L. Ross was called to attend the youth, and at the last reports his condition was said to be much improved.

LARGE APARTMENT HOUSE PLANNED FOR THIS CITY

A large apartfinent house is being planned by F. A. Dustin to be constructed on property which he ownes on the corner of Hilton and Cassia streets. Dustin is at present building two houses on his property, and expects to build a 26-room apartment house. Dustin has also asked for a permit to build a large commercial garage on the same property and will do so as soon as the board of trustees can determine that the residents of the neighborhood have no objection to it construction.

The ladies of the local Baptist church will hold a food sale at the Tucker furniture store on Broadway this afternoon The ladies have been busy with the mixing bowl and baking pans and the result is said to be gratifying Just how successful they have been will be seen by the ample supplies of pies, cakes and salads which will be sold to those who are fortunate enough to get there early.

Appeared in Times-Gazette FEBRUARY 25, 1899

P. A. Ryan, the druggist, has put in an aceteline gas plant, which furnishes a brilliant white light to his store. The pharmacy was first lit up by this light Monday night and the bright illumination attracted a large crowd.

Our agent, Nelson Paddock, will call on our old friends between Redwood City, Colma and Bayden the coming week. Give him your order for the Times-Gazette, and job work of all kinds.

Thomas Hickey, the Bayden politician, was here Wednesday calling on friends. The object of his visit was to disclose a scheme which he had to break the Senatorial deadlock at Sacramento.

Those stylish rigs at the Pioneer stables which are attracting so much attention, were bought by Mr. Russell from A. M. Carrel of Palo Alto. By the way Mr. Carral has just received a carload of rigs from the east, and among them is a buggy with solid rubber tires, which he is going to introduce, and hopes to build up a big trade with these buggies.
